Location

Shrewsbury is a historic and well-established county town in Shropshire, located approximately 40 miles west of Birmingham and around 15 miles west of Telford. The town benefits from strong regional connectivity via the A5, A49 and A458, together with regular rail services to Birmingham, Manchester, Chester and Wales. Shrewsbury serves as a key commercial, employment and residential centre for the wider area, with a mix of established suburbs, business parks and attractive surrounding villages.

The Oxon Priory occupies a prominent roadside position fronting Welshpool Road (A458) at Shelton Corner, within the suburban area of Bicton Heath on Shrewsbury's western side. The site sits immediately to the east of Severn Trent's Shelton water treatment plant and offices and Oxon Business Park.

The wider vicinity comprises a blend of residential neighbourhoods, local retail parades and established roadside operators. Nearby amenities include Bicton Heath Shopping Centre and a range of local services along Welshpool Road, reinforcing the area's role as a busy suburban hub. The site is also in close proximity to the Royal Shrewsbury Hospital.
